

Remember these times forever.

Family and children's portraits have become a tradition in the relaxed, natural beauty of the Mid-Atlantic beach coast.

Families have a way of changing. That is precisely why you should take this opportunity now while you have this chance in your life.

The ocean and the beaches are a perfect backdrop for a family portrait that will touch your heart, and warm your home.

How long has it been since your family or children have been photographed?

Take this opportunity to schedule and plan your portrait session now, in case this year goes by as fast as the last.

Where will you display your portraits in the sand?

Your family portrait is the most important decorative focal point in your home. It tells the world how much you value your family and reminds us daily of the important things in life.

The very best days of your life!

With nearly 20 years experience of living and photographing at the beach, Certified Professional Photographer David Koster provides you with the skills, patience, knowledge, and training to create a custom photographic piece of art you will truly treasure.

We create quality portraiture all year long, in color or black and white, from finished prints and cards, to fine-art canvas wall portraits.

There are many options and locations for your portrait including the beach, golf course, home, backyard, porch, boat, studio or someplace special to you.

We use advanced satellite and radar monitoring of the weather to insure the best window of opportunity for your portrait session.

You will be able to preview and select your portraits the following day in our state of the art studio.

Your satisfaction with our work is fully guaranteed for memories that you will treasure for a lifetime.

"We love all of the portraits, most of all the large canvas portrait that hangs in our living room. The kids love it too -- something I hadn't expected -- and it has spurred many fond talks of all the great times we've had at the beach. The portraits have probably been the best investment we've ever made, no exaggeration." Cecilia K.
